

Collaborative
Learning Project

The NEW NASSEA EAL Assessment Framework

A three hour practical introduction for EAL coordinators and subject and classroom teachers.

You have missed our workshop, but we are planning more so contact CLP or NASSEA if you are interested.

Workshop led by Liz Haslam and Sandra Nield

AIMS

To become familiar with the layout and terminology used in the framework

To understand how and why we assess progress in EAL, and to consider how this framework can be used by EAL specialists and their non-specialist colleagues

To become prepared and confident enough to use the framework in school.

The NASSEA EAL Assessment Framework

A three hour practical introduction to NASSEA's new EAL Assessment Framework.

Explore why, what and how:

why we need to assess EAL progress for schooling beyond levels what the Framework contains, what help it can provide....

and how it can be used to support EAL specialists and their non-specialist colleagues across the curriculum in terms of assessment, monitoring, target setting and lesson design.

The workshop will build understanding about how the EAL Framework links to the expectations of the EYFS and to the revised National Curriculum for English.

There will be opportunities to explore the framework in depth, to try out the moderating process and to consider how the framework contents will support conversations about EAL with other school colleagues.

A three hour interactive workshop with these aims for the participants:

- To understand how and why we assess progress in EAL, and to consider how this framework can be used by EAL specialists and their non-specialist colleagues.
- To become familiar with the layout and terminology used in the framework.
- To become prepared and confident enough to use the framework in school.

These workshops are presented by NASSEA and organised by Collaborative Learning.

Go to:

www.nassea.org.uk
collaborativelearning.org

To find out more about our work supporting EAL achievement nationwide