

Poetry and Collaborative Talk (at all Key Stages)

on Tuesday 22nd May 2007 1.00pm - 5.00pm at Headstart Centre Netley School, Netley Street,
London NW1 3EN

This workshop aims to:

..demonstrate examples of accessible and 'language conscious' curriculum materials that have been tried and tested in schools, which increase opportunities for speaking and listening and promote language and literacy development in English and first languages.

..help you plan collaborative activities, which you will be expected to complete after the workshop, try out in your own school and return to us for dissemination to other workshop members with 2 to 3 months.

..remind teachers that cooperative curriculum development is fun, creative, productive and probably most effective way to plan for talk. We would particularly welcome mainstream and EAL staff currently working in partnership to the workshop.

Please bring with you any collaborative materials that you have already developed to share with colleagues.

Organised by the Collaborative Learning Project and Camden EMA team. CLP is a non-profit making teacher network. Our main aim is to develop and disseminate tried and tested examples of effective group strategies that promote talk across all phases and subjects. More information and a large number of free activities can be downloaded from our website:

www.collaborativelearning.org

Course facilitators: Jane Daffe, Esther Fleary, and Stuart Scott

Cost: £20 including lunch and refreshments to sustain creativity while working collaboratively. Apply directly to the project sending either a cheque or official order to:

Collaborative Learning Project, 17, Barford Street, London N1 0QB

Email: stuart.scott@collaborativelearning.org

Please include the following information:

Names of participants. Name and address of school. Email addresses and telephone number.

Confirmation will be sent by email together with an email link to activities being prepared in advance of the workshop.